

HopOn — Brand & Universe Session · Day 1 PM

Underlined answers · Hippo + Juliette + Barbara

May 11, 2026

① POSITIONING

The one-liner that defines everything — what HopOn does, and for whom.

The app that simplifies your horse life · that turns your time into money.

The target is clear: professional stables with trainers and boarders. Not recreational owners.

Not for: independents with no trainer or barn, or those keeping a horse at home for pleasure only.

Why open HopOn on a Tuesday at 7am: planning · financial dashboard · team view.

⑤ TARGET EMOTIONS

How users should feel after using the app — the emotional outcome, not just the functional one.

Satisfied · reassured · motivated — help pros improve their business, and for some, save it.

Three distinct word-of-mouth paths, all organic:

Pro → Pro · Amateur → Amateur · Amateur → Pro: "my old barn used HopOn."

② BRAND PERSONALITY

The feeling HopOn should give — look, tone, energy. Five reference apps were chosen for a specific reason each.

Lululemon energy · intentional · positive · 30-40 y.o. · 80% serious / 20% friendly.

Strava = builds habits through network effect. MindBody = same vertical, same business model. Doctolib = trusted, clean, pro. Uber = just works. Airbnb = elegant for both sides of the transaction.

⑥ VISUAL DIRECTION

First color and type decisions — to be validated with Juliette tomorrow, not final.

Green teal direction — MindBody feel, not dark equestrian.

#F0FDF4 #3BAEA4 #B3FFC1

Typeface: Calibre — to test tomorrow.

③ FORBIDDEN CODES

What would immediately kill trust or brand perception. Hard lines — not up for debate.

Not the Facebook of horses · no cluttered UI · not decorative like Hermès · not low cost · not slow · no added complexity.

Words that would make us cringe: unreliable · gimmick · complicated · buggy · slow.

LOGO · TO EXPLORE

No final direction yet — just the creative brief to bring to Juliette.

Something built around the H — capitalize both the H and the second O.

④ EQUESTRIAN WORLD

The exact slice of the equestrian world HopOn lives in — not elite FEI, not backyard hobby.

A farm where there are lessons.

Visual codes that feel right: shades of brown or green · wood · rectangle shapes (arena). Color direction: green.

NOT TODAY

Decisions deliberately parked — to avoid rushing before the brief is solid.

Final logo · definitive palette · typography · app icon · animations (Day 3 with Julien).
